Laporan ini menganalisis kebijakan publik pendidikan di Indonesia dengan fokus pada penguatan sumber daya manusia dalam konteks globalisasi dan transformasi digital. Pendidikan di Indonesia masih menghadapi tantangan mendasar berupa kesenjangan kualitas, ketimpangan wilayah, dan keterbatasan relevansi antara kurikulum dan kebutuhan industri. Meskipun anggaran pendidikan telah mencapai 20% APBN, efektivitas implementasi kebijakan belum sepenuhnya optimal.

Indonesia's education system continues to face fundamental challenges such as disparities in quality, regional inequality, and limited curriculum relevance to industry needs. Although education spending has reached 20% of the national budget, policy implementation effectiveness remains suboptimal.

The study recommends reforms in evidence-based governance, teacher professionalism, digitalization of learning systems, and alignment between central and local policies.
